

FREETOWN MAN IN TROUBLE HERE

Charles H. Brock Arrested While Attempting to Erase Name on Alleged Fraudulent Check.

STRANGER WROTE THE NAMES

Told Police He Had Nothing to Do With Transaction Except as An Accomodation.

Charles H. Brock, of Freetown, was arrested by Chief of Police McCord this morning for uttering a fraudulent check and is held at city jail pending the preliminary hearing. A stranger, who claims his name is Fred Mooner, of Mexico, Missouri, is also being held by the police, it being alleged that he wrote the forged name on the check. When Brock was taken into custody he is said to have been in the act of trying to erase one of the names. The check which is drawn on the Freetown State Bank called for $9.20. The writing was very crude and the check was not drawn in the usual form. It was made payable to "C. L. Smith" and the one who attempted to make it out signed the name of "C. L. Jones" as payer. On the back appeared the name of C. L. Jones. The name of C. L. Smith was not very distinct as it had been partly erased. Mooner, who is accompanied by his wife, is being held as a witness and until the details of the transaction can be ascertained. The couple came to Seymour from North Vernon, Tuesday night and applied to Trustee Charles Steinwedel this morning for money with which to pay their train fare to Washington. Mooner said he had been in Virginia and was on his way to Washington where he had relatives. According to the story told by Mooner he was waiting at the B. & O. Southwestern depot for the arrival of the westbound train when he was approached by Brock. The latter asked Mooner to accomodate him by writing a name on a check, Brock declaring that he could not write. Mooner said he did not suspicion that anything was wrong and wrote the names as dictated by Brock. He said he had nothing whatever to do with the transaction and was only accomodating Brock. The check was not dated and Mooner said it was the first check he had ever written. An investigation shows that two men, answering the description of Brock and Mooner, entered the Thomas Clothing Company this morning and purchased two pairs of shoes offering the check in payment. Herman Boose, a clerk, examined the check and became suspicious and refused to pay any money on it. It is reported that the check was also offered at Gates' Cigar store and Steinkamp's saloon but was rejected at both places. Chief McCord trailed Brock to several places before the arrest was made. Brock is said to be a member of a prominent family in Salt Creek township. The police telephoned to his relatives this morning and told them that he had been jailed on a forgery charge but they notified the authorities that they would have nothing to do with the case. It is reported that they verified the statement that Brock could not write.

Several attempts were made last week to pass forged paper on some of the merchants but none of them was cashed. A stranger purchased a load of coal from a dealer and offered to pay for the same in advance with a $50 check. It was refused and the men later closed a purported contract to rent a vacant room offering to pay part of the rent in advance if they could cash an $18 check. This attempt was also unsuccessful. It is not believed, however, that the two men who worked here last week had anything to do with the case before the police at the present time.

SUTTON CONVICTED OF ASSAULT AND BATTERY Sentenced to Fifteen Days After Spending Six Weeks in Jail Waiting for Trial.

Prosecutor Underwood obtained a conviction in the case of the State vs. Jesse Sutton charged with assault and battery upon Mrs. Louisa Pfluger, an elderly lady living near Brownstown. This case was tried in the justice court some time ago and Sutton was acquitted for lack of evidence. The case was later taken before the Grand Jury and an indictment was returned. Sutton has been in jail for the last six weeks awaiting trial. Judge Swails heard the evidence Tuesday and found Sutton guilty but as the plaintiff was not painfully injured and Sutton had been in jail for some time he gave him a light sentence of 15 days in jail and a fine of $5.00 and costs.

Angie Vermilya was granted a divorce from Joseph C. Vermilya and the defendant was ordered to pay $50.00 attorney's fees which was allowed by the court to the plaintiff's attorneys.

The action of Barbara McMillen vs. Wm. McMillen for divorce was dismissed.

Another divorce suit was filed being Frank Meeh Jr. vs. Lena Meeh. The plaintiff asks a separation on the grounds of adultery.

Two other civil suits have been filed this week in which Wm. E. Scott asks to foreclose a mortgage given by Louis F. Collier and the Seymour Planing Mill seeks to collect from Henry Miller.

Judgement was rendered for $205.70 for the plaintiff in the case of Stephen Enos vs. Geo. Story.

Geo. Judd plead guilty to the charge of running a game of chance and was handed a fine of $10.00 and costs.

The First National Bank of Seymour received a judgement vs. Samuel Nicholson for the sum of $119.82.

The William H. Eikenberry vs. Robert Crawford suit on note has been dismissed and the matter settled out of court.

The jury will more than likely be called Thursday to hear the case of Freeman vs. the City of Bedford and will be on duty most of the time from then on to the end of the term as there are quite a few jury cases to be heard.

Infant Dead. Arthur O. Shields, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O. Shields, died Tuesday night and the funeral will be held from the residence on South Walnut street Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. H. R. Booch, pastor of the St. Paul church. Burial at Riverview.

GOLD MINE BUYS THE IDEAL STORE

$20,000 Stock of Dry Goods, Furnishings, Including Fixtures and Accounts Change Hands.

STORES WILL BE CONSOLIDATED

Gold Mine Will Move Ideal Stock to its Building After Completing Inventory Next Week.

The Gold Mine Department Store has purchased the $20,000 stock of the Ideal Dry Goods store. The stock consists of dry goods, notions and ladies' furnishing goods. The deal was made for cash and includes the stock, fixtures and accounts. The trade was conducted through the brokerage firm of C. E. T. Dobbins & Co.

The Gold Mine is invoicing its own stock and as soon as this is completed the stock from the Ideal store will be moved to the Gold Mine store and preparations will be made for a big sale from the stock which they have purchased. The date of the sale has not been definitely settled, but will be announced later as soon after the invoicing is completed as possible.

The Ideal Dry Goods store was opened in Seymour, October 6, 1900, by Mr. Ben Simon. At that time he was located in the Rosenfield building on South Chestnut street. Later he moved to the Thomas building on North Chestnut, and a little later to the Shields building next to the First National Bank. In the latter part of August, 1911, he moved to his present location in the Blish building, where he increased his stock and had one of the largest store rooms in the city. The business has grown steadily under his management. For the present Mr. Simon will assist the Gold Mine in disposing of the big stock, which they have taken over, and a little later will probably engage in business elsewhere.

The Gold Mine Department store is one of the largest retail stores in southern Indiana. Its business has grown steadily. Its connection with the chain of Strauss stores in other cities gives it a decided advantage in purchasing power as well as in the outlet for its stock of goods. This store is well-known in every direction from Seymour, and a large amount of trade is brought to this city by its enterprising advertising for business. People have come to realize that if the article they wish can be obtained the Gold Mine will have it and this has been an important factor in the steady growth of the business.

PIONEER BUSINESS MAN PASSES AWAY

Joseph Fettig, 87, Founder of Oldest Firm in Seymour, Died Tuesday Night of Pneumonia.

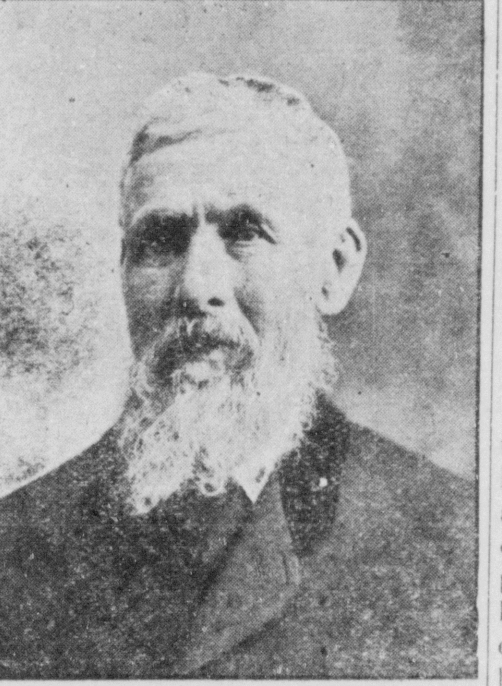

CAME TO SEYMOUR IN 1860

Deceased Was a Native of Germany And Came to America at Age of Nineteen Years.

Joseph Fettig, founder of the J. Fettig Co., the oldest established business in Seymour, died of pneumonia at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night at his home on Jeffersonville Avenue. He had been in feeble health due to his advanced age for several months but visited his store almost daily. He was down town Monday afternoon and greeted a number of his friends but was taken sick shortly after his return home. Mr. Fettig was a man of remarkable vitality as was shown Tuesday morning when he made known his intention of visiting the store in spite of his illness but was so seriously ill that he was unable to leave his bed.

Mr. Fettig was born in Mothorn, Germany, Nov. 8, 1826, making his exact age 87 years, 1 month and 28 days. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Fettig. When he was nineteen years of age he immigrated to the United States, settling at New Orleans. From there he came to Madison and after living at that place for a few years he moved to Vernon where he conducted a general store.

Early in the year 1860 the store was burned at Vernon and Mr. Fettig moved to Seymour in April. In that month he established a general store and harness shop in the building now owned by Joseph Giger at the corner of Second street and Indianapolis Avenue. He conducted his business here for a number of years when he moved his store to its present location. The first building was torn down in 1889 and the present structure erected.

When Mr. Fettig entered the harness business all the work was done by hand as none of the modern machinery had been invented. He very early gained a wide reputation as a harness maker and supplied the trade for a large portion of Jackson and adjoining counties. Mr. Fettig was a very industrious man and continued in active business until his age prevented. In recent years the store has been in the active management of his sons, Philip J. and Victor N. Fettig.

Mr. Fettig was married Sept. 30, 1855 to Miss Barbara Oliver at the St. James church at Four Corners. To this union were born eight children, six of whom are living: Benjamin of Columbus, Peter of Connersville, and Philip J., Victor N. and Misses Margaret and Elizabeth of Seymour. His widow and twenty-two grandchildren also survive.

The funeral services will be held from the St. Ambrose Catholic church at 9 o'clock Friday morning conducted by Father C. J. Conrad. Burial at the Catholic cemetery.

WHISKEY PRODUCES BAD TEMPER, ALSO HAPPINESS

One Man Arrested for Intoxication Smashes the Dishes—Other is Exceeding Glad.

That there are at least two varieties of whiskey, on producing laughter and the other a bad temper was shown in police court today. Chief of Police McCord received a call to come to South Walnut street and arrest an intoxicated man who proved to be Louis Embuff. He was so far under the influence of liquor when taken to the jail that he had little to say but by noon was in such a perturbed frame of mind that he broke all the dishes which contained his 12 o'clock luncheon.

The other kind of "booze" was sold to Charles Kellogg, of Marion, who was in such a happy state of mind that he was simply bubbling over with mirth and joy. He was more than pleased to accompany Chief of Police McCord and Officer Wolfe to the jail and laughed continuously while he was being searched. He smilingly surrendered his money, $7.60, to the chief and enjoyed a hearty laugh when four packages of tobacco were replaced in his pocket. After entering the cell, however, he relapsed into a peaceful repose and the court officials have been waiting for him to revive so he can be brought before Mayor Ross. Charges of intoxication will be preferred against the offenders.

"BIG" FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION DISCUSSED

Military Organizations of City Expect to Hold Spectacular Event This Summer.

Plans for a Fourth of July celebration that will eclipse anything of the kind ever held in southern Indiana are being discussed by the military organizations of this city. It is expected that the celebration will be held at the city park and if the present program is carried out a big sham battle will be one of the features of the day.

A number of other attractions, different from anything ever seen in this part of the state, are being discussed and those in charge of arrangements expect to take final action in a short time. The celebration will be widely advertised throughout the state and it is believed that thousands of visitors will come to Seymour on that day.

STAKING ALL ON OJINAGA BATTLE

Win Or Lose Is Villa's Present Policy.

CALLS OUT HIS ENTIRE FORCE

Determined to Crush the Federal Forces Which Have Successfully Resisted a Week's Bloody Siege at the Border Town, Bandit Ruler of North Mexico Is Rushing Every Available Man to the Scene of Battle.

Juarez, Mexico, Jan. 7.—Every available man in Juarez was ordered to entrain for Ojinaga to reinforce the rebel army now about to resume its attack on the federals. Pancho Villa appears determined to crush the federals or lose all, as he is withdrawing all his men from Chihuahua and Juarez for the attack.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 7.—Pancho Villa is expected at the rebel camp at any hour with 2,400 rebel reinforcements and two heavy guns to reopen the attack upon the federals in Ojinaga, according to information that leaked out through rebel sources. It is explained that the cessation in hostilities on the part of the rebels was to await the arrival of Villa, without whom the men will not fight with the greatest energy. He is expected to order the renewal of the attack at once.

The federals claim to be awaiting reinforcements. They assert that the arrival of some of these reinforcements in the rear of the rebels largely caused the rebel withdrawal Monday evening. The rebels are camped twenty miles west of Ojinaga, on the Rio Grande, awaiting the arrival of their commander.

American officers on this side of the line who are in communication with the outside world, do not believe that Villa can reach the rebel camp today, as he only left Chihuahua Monday night, according to reports from there. He took reinforcements and a large supply of ammunition. The ammunition sent previously to his fighting men was captured enroute by the federals.

The federals are spending the time repairing their partially wrecked fortifications, gathering up and burning the bodies of the dead on the battlefield, and otherwise preparing to resist the renewed attack.

TWO HUNDRED WERE KILLED

Mexican Rebels Use Dynamite Without Investigation.

Mexico City, Jan. 7.—General Pedro Garcia, a rebel commander, stopped a freight train of four cars on the line near Aguascalientes, loaded part of the merchandise in one car, destroyed the other cars and embarked 200 men for Aguascalientes.

As he reached La Honda a mine placed on the track by another rebel leader, General Robles, was exploded. Robles thinking it was a federal train. The entire 200 men were killed.

Change of Venue in Gorman Case.
Indianapolis, Jan. 7.—The case of James Gorman, a streetcar company employe who was indicted on the charge of murder in the first degree, has been sent to Hancock county. Attorneys for the company allege that Gorman could not obtain a fair and impartial trial in Marion county.

County Jail Loses Its Charm.
Logansport, Ind., Jan. 7.—The county commissioners have decided to make all prisoners of the city and county break stone. The cost of boarding prisoners during November cost the county $250 and the commissioners decided to try the rock pile, believing that if prisoners were compelled to work there would not be so many chronic cases.

Vedrine Ordered to Give His Rival "Satisfaction."

Paris, Jan. 7.—The French National Aerial league has just ordered Jules Vedrine, one of the two French aviators who recently flew from Paris to Cairo, to give satisfaction immediately to Henry Roux, his rival, who also accomplished the flight. Roux challenged Vedrine to a duel after the latter had struck him in the face during an altercation. The quarrel between the two aviators arose because Roux is alleged to have requested the Turkish officials not to assist Vedrine on his flight in the Orient.

Rene Quinton, president of the Aerial league, telegraphed Vedrine that if he declines to fight he must return at once to France. The league intends in this case to withdraw from Vedrine its approval of the continuation of the flight from Cairo to Cape Town. All the celebrations which had been arranged in honor of Vedrine by the French colony in Cairo have been canceled.

CASE OF TYPHUS FEVER IS FOUND ON BOARD OF SHIP

250 Immigrants Transferred to Hoffman Island For Observation.

New York, January 7.—Two hundred and fifty immigrants, Turks and Syrians, were removed from the Fabre line steamship Roma on her arrival here today and transferred to Hoffman island for observation. A case of typhus fever broke out on the ship during her voyage over from Marseilles. She touched first at Providence and was detained there. Then it was decided that the situation could be better handled here. Thirty others on board have high temperatures. They were placed in the isolation hospital. The other passengers will be held for observation fourteen days and the vessel will be disinfected.

Dr. J. J. O'Connell, health officer of the port, issued a statement saying that the public need not be alarmed over the prospect of an epidemic.

Fred Stockamp Dead.

Fred Stockamp, aged thirty-three years, of near Waymansville, died this morning at the Schneck hospital following an operation for peritonitis. He was admitted to the hospital Sunday afternoon and although then in a critical condition an operation was performed as a final resort to save his life. He was born near Waymansville January 12, 1881, and spent most of his life on the home place. His widow and two children survive.

The funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the German Lutheran church at Sauers. Burial at the church cemetery.

Mrs. Carl Williams, of Indianapolis, came today to visit relatives until Sunday.

Prevent Diphtheria.

A sore throat is a good breeding place for diphtheria germs. Protect your children by never neglecting a Sore Throat. You can wisely depend upon TONSILINE. Give Tonsiline upon the first appearance of Sore Throat—don't give Diphtheria a chance in that throat in its weakened condition. When TONSILINE is swallowed it comes directly in contact with the diseased surface and induces a healthy condition of the membranes—then the system can better defend the throat if attacked by diphtheria germs. Keep TONSILINE in the house where you can get it quick when needed. 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

MAKING THE WHEELS GO ROUND.

In some parts of the country there has been a feeling of business hesitation. The "timid ones" have been inclined to sit back and see what was going to happen.

And in the meantime—The live wires have been going ahead and making things happen.

You will notice the directory of "Live Ones" if you glance through the advertising columns of this newspaper and of other good newspapers!

Just run over the names of the "DO IT NOW BRIGADE." These are the chaps who have been too busy making the wheels go around to talk of dull times. If for no other reason than patriotism they deserve your support.

But there is even a better reason.

The merchants and the manufacturers who have the gumption to keep hustling are certainly the ones who are going to give you the best goods and the most efficient service.

DECREASE IN OPERATING REVENUES ON RAILROADS

This Fact Disclosed in Official Summary of Expenses Issued for Past Year.

Returns of railroads operating about 90 per cent. of the railway mileage of the United States show a decrease in total operating revenue a mile for October, 1913, compared with the corresponding period of 1912. This is disclosed in the official summary of revenues and expenses of the roads issued by the Bureau of Railway Economics at Washington. Operating revenues for the month of October, 1913, amounted to $290,605,915. This includes revenues from freight and passenger traffic, from carrying mail and express and from miscellaneous sources connected with rail operation.

The decrease from the revenues in October, 1912, is $1,516,225. Reduced to a per mile basis the October 1913, revenues amounted to $1,294, while in October 1912, they were $1,311. Freight revenue decreased 2.5 per cent, while passenger revenue increased 1.2 per cent.

Operating expenses for the month were heavy, amounting to $195,338,456, which was an increase of $11,158,090 as compared with October, 1912.

CHAPTER XI.

Chiquita.

THE next day Kirk borrowed a shotgun and went hunting. He wanted to get away somewhere and collect his thoughts. For the present, at least, he wished to avoid an interview with Mrs. Cortlandt.

At midday he paused in an open glade against a hillside to eat his lunch. Back of him the rising ground was heavily timbered; beneath him a confusion of thickets and groves and cleared fields led out of a green plain as clean as any golf links, upon which were scattered dwellings.

Evidently this was the Savannas of which he had heard so much, and these

"You must look where you go," she admonished.

Foreign looking bungalows were the country homes of the rich Panamanians.

The wood was crowded with plant life utterly strange to him. Vines and creepers abounded, from the tiny mosses to the giant liana creeping through the forest like a python, throttling full grown trees in its embrace. On every side was the never ceasing battle for light and the struggle of the weak against the strong.

Tiring of the scene at last, Kirk stumbled out into a cleared space, where he paused with an exclamation of surprise.

A brook had been dammed and widened into a deep, limpid pool to which the clean, white sand of its bottom lent a golden hue. At the lower end it overflowed in a waterfall, the gurgling music of which filled the glade.

To step suddenly out of an uncut wilderness into such a scene was bewildering and made the American gasp with delight. The place had an air of strictest privacy. A spring board mirrored in the depths below invited one to plunge, a pair of iron gymnasium rings were swung by chains to a massive limb, a flight of stone steps led up the bank and into a hut artistically thatched and walled with palm leaves to harmonize with its setting.

After staring about him for a long time he took a lingering, farewell look and turned to retrace his steps, whereupon some one laughed at him softly. He paused abruptly, then turned around. Then with the sweetest foreign accent imaginable he heard some one say:

"You had better cross upon the waterfall, sir. There is no bridge above." After an instant, during which he strained his eyes to find the owner of the voice, she laughed again.

"Here I am in the tree across the pond."

"Oh!" Looking over the fork of a tree trunk, perhaps twice the height of his head above the ground, Anthony beheld a ravishing face and two very bright eyes. Without removing his gaze he leaned his gun carefully against a bush—firearms have an abominable effect upon hamadryads—and said, "How did you get up there?"

"I climbed up."

"Why didn't you hide under the waterfall?"

"I did not hide, señor. I am trying to reach my orchid."

A little hand appeared beside the face, and a finger pointed to one of the big air plants above her. Kirk beheld a marvelous white, dove shaped flower nodding upon a slender stalk.

"Do you wish to cross the stream?" she asked.

"If you please."

"Wait." The face disappeared. There was a sound from behind the twisted tree trunk; a twig fell, then a piece of bark, and the next instant the girl herself stepped into view.

"I was afraid you'd gone for good," acknowledged the young man gravely. He took up his gun and stepped out upon the crest of the dam.

"You must look where you go," she admonished, "or you will fall—splash!" She laughed delightedly at the thought.

"Will you promise not to whisk yourself away if I look down?" he asked.

"Yes."

But even with this assurance he found it difficult to remove his eyes from her even for the brief instant necessary for a safe passage, and when at last he stood beside her he felt an irresistible desire to seize her gently so that she could not escape.

"Well?" she said at length, and he found he had been standing stock still staring at her for several seconds.

"Excuse me! I really took you for a wood nymph. I'm not sure yet. You see, the place is so well suited. It—it was a natural mistake."

She dropped her eyes shyly and turned away at his look.

"It is only our swimming pool. There have been no fairies here since I was a very little girl. But once upon a time there were many—oh, a great many!" It was impossible to describe the odd, sweet sound her tongue gave to the English words. It was not a dialect, hardly an accent, just a delicious, hesitating mannerism born of unfamiliarity.

"Did you ever see them?"

"No! I arrived always a little too late. But there are such things."

She pointed to a path, saying: "This way will bring you to the road, sir, if you wish."

"But—I don't wish—not yet." He sought wildly for an excuse to stay and exclaimed: "Oh, the orchid. I must get it for you."

"That will be very nice of you, sir. For two years I have awaited its blooming. If you had not arrived I would have got it anyhow."

"Girls shouldn't climb trees," he said severely. "It tears their dresses."

"Oh, one cannot tear a dress like this," she glanced down at her skirt. Allowing his eyes to leave her face for a moment, Kirk saw that she was clad, oddly enough, in a suit of denim which was buttoned snugly clear to her neck.

He broke his gun and removed the shells; then, leaving it beside the bathhouse, went to the tree where he had first seen her. With one hand resting upon the trunk, he turned to say:

"Promise you won't disappear while I'm up there or change into a squirrel or a bird or anything like that."

"Yes, yes."

Then instead of beginning his climb the young man lounged idly against the tree.

"Funny how I found you, wasn't it?" he remarked. "I mean it's funny I should have stumbled right on you this way. There's only one of you and one of me, and—er—this country is so big!"

"But the orchid, señor. Do you fear to climb so high?" she inquired, with the faintest gleam of amusement at his obvious effort to prolong the conversation.

"Oh, no!"

When he had reached the first fork he turned and seated himself comfortably, peering downward through the leaves for a sight of her.

"Not gone yet!" he exclaimed. "That's good."

"Are you out of breath that you stop so soon?"

He nodded. "I need to rest a minute. Say, my name is Anthony—Kirk Anthony." Then, after a pause, "I'm an American."

"So am I, at least I am almost. My mother was an American."

"You don't say!" The young man's face lighted up with interest, and he started eagerly down the tree trunk, but she checked him promptly.

"The orchid!"

"Oh, yes!" He repeated himself. "Well, well, I suppose your mother taught you to speak English?"

"I also attended school in Baltimore."

Now that the first surprise of meeting was over, Kirk began a really attentive scrutiny of this delightful young person. His first glimpse had told him she was ravishingly pretty, but it had failed to show how dainty and small she was. Her chief charm lay in a certain winsome vivacity. Even now pure mischief looked out of her eyes as she asked:

"Have you rested enough to attack the orchid?"

"Yes." He roused himself from his trance, and with a strangely leaping heart proceeded carefully to detach the big air plant from its resting place.

"Don't break it," she cautioned as he came gingerly down the tree. "It is what we call 'Espiritu Santa,' the 'holy spirit' flower. See, it is like a white bird."

"May I rest a moment? I'm awfully tired."

"Certainly. You may stay as long as you wish. When you are rested the little path will bring you out."

"But you mustn't go!" he exclaimed in a panic as she turned away. "Oh, I say, please! You wouldn't do a thing like that?"

"I cannot speak to you this way, sir." The young lady blushed prettily. "Why not, I'd like to know?"

"Oh!" She raised her hand and shook her head to express the absolute impossibility of such a thing. "Already I have been terrible. What will Stephanie say?"

"You've been nothing of the sort, and who is Stephanie?"

"She is a big black woman—very fierce. It is because of Stephanie that the fairies have gone away from here."

"I'm so tired that I must sit down. I thought these country places were unoccupied at this season."

"So they are. But, you see, I am doing a penance. I am a bad girl. I am disobedient. Otherwise I would not allow you to speak to me alone like this. You are the first gentleman I have ever been so long in the company with, Señor Antonio. For six months I must wear these garments—so pretty ones. I must not go out in public also, and I have been sent here away from the city for a time to cure my rebellious spirit."

"Those dresses must be hot."

"Oh, very uncomfortable! But, you see, I was bad."

"Not very bad?"

"Indeed, I disobeyed my father, my uncle, everybody." For the first time her eyes grew bright with anger. "But I did not wish to be married."

"Now I see. They wanted you to marry some fellow you don't like? It's awful to marry somebody you don't like," he declared, with such earnest conviction that she inquired quickly:

"Ah, then are you married?"

"No! But everybody says it's positively criminal to marry without love."

"The gentleman is very handsome."

He shuddered. "Beware of handsome men. If you have any idea of marriage select a large, plain man with blue eyes and light hair."

"I do not know such a person."

"Not yet, of course—that is, not well enough to marry him."

"It is not nice to speak of such things," said the young lady primly. "And it is not nice also to speak with strange gentlemen who come out of the forest when one is doing penance."

"Will you catch it for talking to me?"

"Oh, yes. It is not allowed."

"Then I suppose I'd better leave." Anthony settled himself more comfortably upon the bench. "And yet there is nothing really wrong about it, is there? Why, it's done every day in my country. Besides, who's going to know?"

"The padre. I tell him everything."

"How does a fellow ever get acquainted with a girl down here? How does he get a chance to propose?"

"One's people attend to that, of course," she managed to say at length, then changed the subject quickly.

"What did you say is your whole name?"

"Kirk Anthony."

"Keerk! It has a funny sound, has it not?"

"I never noticed it. And yours?"

"My name is Chiquita."

He repeated it after her. "It's pretty. What is your last name?"

"That is it. If I told you my first name you could not use it. It would not be proper."

"It ought to be something like Ariel. That means 'spirit of the air and water,' I believe. Ariel Chiquita. No, they don't go together. See here, Miss Chiquita, may I call on you?"

"Oh!" She lifted her brows in amazement. "Such ideas! Of a certainly not!"

"Why?"

"You do not understand. Our young men do not do those things."

"Then I'll do whatever is customary—really I will—but I'm awfully anxious to see you again—and—"

"I do not know you. My father—"

"I'll look up Mr. Chiquita and be introduced."

At this the young lady began to rock back and forth in an abandon of merriment.

"For two weeks yet I must remain here alone with Stephanie." She regarded him mournfully. "Every day I must do my penance and think of my sins and—perhaps look for orchids."

"Tomorrow?" he inquired breathlessly. "Do you intend to hunt orchids tomorrow?"

Instead of answering she started to her feet with a little cry, and he did likewise. Back of them had sounded an exclamation—it was more like the snort of a wild animal than a spoken word—and there, ten feet away, stood a tall, copper colored negress, her eyes blazing, her nostrils dilated, a look of utmost fury upon her face.

"Stephanie," exclaimed the girl, "you frightened me!"

The negress strode to her, speaking rapidly in Spanish, then turned upon Kirk.

"What do you want here?" she cried menacingly. She had thrust her charge behind her and now pierced him with her eyes.

"Miss Chiquita"—he began, at which that young lady broke into another peal of silvery laughter and chattered to her servant. But her words, instead of placating the black woman, only added to her fury. She pointed with quivering hand to the path along the creek bank and cried:

"Go! Go quick, you man!" Then to her charge: "You bad, bad! Go to the house!"

"Miss Chiquita hasn't done anything to make you huffy. I came out of the woods yonder, and she was good enough to direct me to the road."

But Stephanie was not to be appeased. She stamped her flat foot and repeated her command in so savage a tone that Kirk perceived the uselessness of trying to explain. He looked appealingly at the girl, but she merely nodded her head and motioned him to be gone.

"Go! Go quick, you man!"

That evening he sat for a long time alone on the gallery of his hotel, his spirit uplifted with the joy of love, a thousand whispering voices in his ears. And when at last he fell asleep it was to dream of an olive, oval face with eyes like black pansies.

Wonderful Cough Remedy.

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson of Eidson, Tenn., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee." This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all the members of the family. 50c and $1. Recommended by H. H. ## Hooray! Blood Free of Impurities Eczema Gone! Acne, Tetter, Rash, Pimples, Carbuncles, Boils—Banished!

It is certainly remarkable how quickly the action of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, shows itself in the skin. There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular or glandular activity to select from the blood, or from the fine network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

Thus pimples, acne, eczema, lupus, or any other blood condition that attacks the skin or seeks an outlet through the skin is met with the antidotal effect of S. S. S. This is why skin troubles vanish so readily and why they do not return. Under the influence of S. S. S. this fine network of blood vessels in the skin is constantly selecting from the blood the nutrition required for healthy tissue, and the cause of disease is so constantly being removed, scattered and rendered harmless.

You will be surprised and delighted at the quick change if you will use S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. Its action in the skin is quite sensational. These facts are most fully explained in a book on skin troubles sent by the Swift, Speedie Co., 213 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. Get a bottle to-day and banish all skin afflictions.

When you ask for S. S. S. look out for the common trick of trying to sell you something else. Don't be misled.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SAVORY DISHES WITH EGGS.

BREAKFAST MENU.
Orange Juice in Cups.
Cereal.
Dried Beef and Eggs.
Buttered Toast.
Coffee.

MANY nourishing and appetizing foods may be made by combining eggs with other foods. These make useful dishes for breakfast or luncheon when heavy food is not desired.

Served on Toast.

Dried Beef and Eggs.—Take a cupful of chopped beef and to it add a pint of canned drained tomatoes. Place in a frying pan, season with paprika and a little finely minced onion. When smoking hot add six beaten eggs with a tablespoonful of cream, stir until the eggs are cooked and pour over neat strips of toast. Sometimes a little grated cheese is stirred in with the eggs.

Baked Eggs With Shrimps.—Take six eggs and beat them well, melt two ounces of butter in a small enameled saucepan and add the eggs to the butter, together with a tablespoonful of milk and a quarter of a pint of shrimps. Season with pepper and salt to taste. Stir this until it thickens. Then take slices of buttered toast and spread the creamed shrimps over it. Garnish with little heaps of shrimps and sprigs of watercress. Canned shrimps may be used for this dish.

In Individual Cups.

Baked Eggs.—In little baking cups melt a small piece of butter; then break one egg into each cup. Put one tablespoonful of milk or cream on top of each and a little salt and pepper and a small piece of butter. Bake in a hot oven. They should be cooked just before serving.

Scrambled Eggs With Ham.—Take three ounces of butter and melt it in an enameled saucepan over the fire. Break six eggs into the butter, one by one. Then add a teaspoonful of milk and a dash of salt and pepper. Stir until the eggs begin to set. Then add three ounces of boiled ham which has been first sliced, then cut into small pieces. When well combined turn out on a hot dish. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve at once.
